About This Content

The Founder's Pack DLC is your limited-time opportunity to own the full release collection of Longsword Tabletop Tactics cards. You will receive a full play set of every card in the game (except for a limited number of miniature re-skins that can only be earned through play).

You will also receive a Longsword Faction Token to share with friends or to trade on the Steam Marketplace. Each token represents one of the factions in the game, and whoever possesses the token in their Steam Inventory will have access to every card from that faction. This is a great way to share the game with a friend and to get them started out with a proper collection.

COURT WIZARD

Common / Human / Wizard

The disciples of Merlin spend decades studying under the Archmage before they are trusted to practice magic alone. Many of these wizards take up postings within the noble houses of the realm, where they are counted upon to advise and protect their Lord in all matters civil and martial.

In the beginning, there were legions, and the legions were great. You were outnumbered, out-skilled, out-ranged, out-cheated, even, by the AI, where they can have all the double shots and you can't, even if you were to have 8 AP turn. You cannot save anywhere. this is so imbalanced. Their range were for the whole map shooting across both ships, where you can only shoot yourself and your partners. This is not a learning curve! this is a miraculous know-how cliff. This is a waste of money. You'll have to buy a lot to be able to miraculously winning some battles.
